MANAGING DIRECTOR'S SPEECH

Dear Stakeholders,

It gives me immense pleasure to share with you my perception of the business environment and the Company's initiatives on overall growth and operational excellence.

I must confess this year is unusual for the economy. The global economies in 2011-12, witnessed slowdown. Euro zone was worst affected. US economy, though impacted, has now started showing signs of mild recovery. China and India which were driving the global economy for some time are also showing signals of slow down.

Indian economy is most likely to witness GDP growth of less than 8 percent in FY12 after consistently remaining above 8% in last couple of years. Slowing down of industrial growth caused by the tightening of monetary policy to curb unabated increase in inflation is one endogenous factor for the lower GDP estimates for FY12. On the other side, sluggish recovery in global economy especially in developed world has acted as exogenous factor for the present economic situation.

Your Company has always strived to break through these tough times by venturing into varied business segments. However there can be exceptions when the Company's predictions and calculations may not show immediate success. This can be said to be true in its recent predictions for the mining and infrastructure industry.

Yantra has attempted to diversify into Mining and Infrastructure in the year 2010-11. However as the mining sector has witnessed lot of negative political government policies which has vitiated the whole segment, the Company has adopted a wait and watch strategy where it would evaluate all possibilities and then initiate any further development. Similarly, the Infrastructure Sector is also witnessing significant slowdown with order book drying up and nose diving margins. We are hopeful that the situation shall improve in the future, however as of now, it does not make any business sense to commit sizeable resources in these sectors.

Hence, the management has decided to adopt a wait and watch strategy till the turnaround of the industry before initiating any steps in this direction and the Company continues to focus on its core business segments of textiles and investment and is further banking on it to see through this tough phase of the economic cycle. Further the Company would initiate operations in mining and infrastructure only when there is a ray of hope for better and newer business prospects. Also the Indian Textile industry is presently facing an unprecedented period of difficulty due to slow- down in the demand especially from the beginning of current financial year. The uncertainties in the export policy of Government of India related to cotton fibre and cotton yarn have added to the woes of the textile industry. The restrictions imposed on cotton yarn exports in the last quarter of FY2 11 led to huge accumulation of cotton yarn inventory with the mills leading to crashing of yarn prices. Thus the financial stress caused by aforesaid developments is likely to reflect in the reduced profitability of the textile industry in the country in FY12. Nevertheless, we are confident about the bright future of textile industry in long term under improving policy environment. At present, this industry in India is one of the modern as among our competitors such as China and Pakistan. The sub group set up by the Ministry of Textiles on fiber has estimated that the industry will need 35 Million plus spindles till 2020 to produce additional 4000 Million Kg of Yarn which will double our present production.

Your Company is shaping itself well to meaningfully participate in emerging opportunities for Indian Textile Industry in medium to long run. We are also responding to the current challenges of rising costs and nearly stagnant demand reflected in abnormally lower prices as well as less inquiries for new orders. The prevailing business scene is a tough learning period to be nimble and responsive to the changing market dynamics. The Company has initiated a process of reviewing systems and processes across the businesses with the objective of identifying scope of improvement for cost cutting and higher value addition. I believe that with the collective efforts, the Company should emerge stronger through adaptive learning which also can reassure relatively a sustained performance.

With best wishes,
sd/-

The Industry is going through a challenging phase amidst global economic slowdown. The performance of the Indian Textile Industry has been under tremendous pressure over the last two years owing to intense competition, significant debt-funding capacity, Technology up-gradation and increasing costs. The credit profiles of Textile Companies have become increasingly stressed over the last one year, following significant contraction of demand for textile products in the key markets of the United States (US) and Europe thereby resulting in severe stress for the Companies operating in the segment to maintain its margins.

However we are pleased to inform you that even against this background, your Company was in a position to clock overall revenues to the tune of Rs. 9249.93 lacs as against 5375.73 in the preceeding financial year thereby registering a growth of

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT

Statements in this report on “Management Discussion and Analysis” describing the Company’s objectives, outlook, estimates, expectations, predictions, belief and management perceptions may be forward looking statements within the meaning of application securities laws and regulations.

Actual results could differ materially from those expressed or implied. Important factors that could make a difference to Company’s operations include, among others, economic conditions in the market in which the Company operates, changes in the Government Regulations, Tax Laws and other statues and incidental factors.

The Company assumes no responsibility in respect of the forward looking statements herein which may undergo changes in future on the basis of subsequent developments, information or events.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC CONDITION

The impact of the socio-economic turmoil across geographies – uprising in the Middle East and North Africa, slowdown in the euro zone consequent to the sovereign debt crisis, among others, continued to impact during FY12. Moreover, volatility in commodity prices, disruption in the supply chain on account of the tsunami in Japan and the floods in Thailand and the overall uncertainty continued to plague business globally, slowing recovery, both in mature and emerging markets.

These developments have impacted emerging economies including India. The Indian economy saw moderate growth primarily on account of rising fiscal deficit, continuing high inflation and high interest rate regime. Huge exchange rate volatility, continuing rise in energy cost and slowdown in reforms were the other dampeners. As a result, GDP of 6.5% during the year was the lowest in the last nine years. The Government is continuously monitoring its fiscal policy with a view to reviving and maintaining growth.

COMPANY'S POSITION:

Mining and Infrastructure

Yantra aspires to be a conglomerate with interests in one of the fastest growing sector of the economy and in line with this the Company attempted to diversify its operations in Mining, Infrastructure and investments.

However, as the mining sector has witnessed lot of negative political government policies which has vitiated the whole segment, the Company has adopted a wait and watch strategy where it would evaluate all possibilities and then initiate any further development. Similarly, the Infrastructure Sector is also witnessing significant slowdown with order book drying up and nose diving margins. Thus the management has refrained from making any major commitments in these sectors and have decided to adopt a wait and watch strategy till the turnaround of the industry before initiating any steps in this direction. In the mean while the Company deems it appropriate to focus on the core business segments of textiles and investment and is further banking on it to see through this tough phase of the economic cycle.

Further the Management is convinced about the potential opportunities in these sectors and is minutely observing any developments in the sectors and also constantly scouting for any opportunities which fit in the Company's business model. As and when it sees a ray of hope for better and newer business prospects, it would commence its operations in these sectors.

Textiles

Overview of the Textiles Industry

Indian Textile Industry is one of leading textile industry in the world. Though was unorganized industry a few years back, the scenario started changing after the economic liberalization of Indian economy in 1991. The opening up of economy has given the much needed thrust to the Indian textile industry, which has now successfully become one of the largest in the world.

Indian Textile Industry largely depends upon the textile manufacturing and export. It also plays a major role in the economy of country. India earns about its 27% of its total foreign exchange through textile exports. Further, the textile industry also contributes nearly 14% of the total industrial production and around 3% to the GDP of the country. Indian textile industry is also the largest in the country in terms of employment generation. It not only generates jobs in its own industry, but also opens up scopes for the other ancillary sectors. Indian textile industry currently generates employment to more than 35 million people.

India's competitive advantages of raw material availability (being the second largest producer of raw cotton in the world, currently) and relatively low labour costs had, over the years, helped form a huge export base for cotton textiles (forming over 60 per cent of total Indian textile exports). However, the ongoing economic recession in developed markets has had a severe impact on consumer spending, thereby resulting in significant rationalization of inventories by many international retailers and consequent scale-down of new orders. This has also in turn affected the direct and derived demand (yarn that is consumed in fabrics for manufacture of garments and home textiles meant for exports) for cotton yarn.

ICRA expects domestic demand also to grow at a slower pace, as the overall economic slowdown restricts consumption expenditure. All these factors have resulted in substantial inventory build-up for the Indian textile industry, thereby exerting pressure on liquidity. The industry has responded with significant production cuts. The sustained downturn in the industry is expected to have a severe impact on smaller players with high leverage on account of limited financial flexibility. Increasing costs and limited pricing flexibility, which ultimately exert pressure on profitability. The profitability of a spinning unit is primarily driven by raw material costs (which account for around 55 per cent of operating income). The increase in cotton prices over the past one-and-a-half years has depressed the margins of spinners. While demand contraction has led to softening of international cotton prices since October 2008, domestic prices have increased on account of the recent hike in minimum support price for raw cotton (by 40 to 50 per cent for medium/ long staple varieties). The resultant gap between the international and domestic prices induced spinners to increase imports of raw cotton to some extent. Spinners are unable to pass on hike in input costs owing to the fragmented nature of the industry, characterized by excess capacities, and significantly lower demand. ICRA also notes that falling crude prices are expected to result in competitive polyester yarn prices, thus constraining further the pricing flexibility of cotton yarn producers. The benefits of the expected softening of domestic cotton prices in the near term are likely to be largely negated by sluggish demand conditions. Also, Indian players would continue to face pricing pressures on account of intense competition from other low-cost countries.

Investment Policy in the Textiles Industry

Besides, Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) of up to 100% is allowed in the textiles sector through the automatic route, the Ministry of Textiles has set up an FDI cell at the Economic Division to attract FDI in the sector.

Additionally, the Government has taken various initiatives to promote the growth of textiles industry in India. Some of these are, Technology Up-gradation Fund Scheme (TUFS), The Scheme for Integrated Textile Park (SITP) and Integrated Skill Development Scheme.

Further, fiscal incentives have also been provided for exports of textile and cotton items under various provisions of the Foreign Trade Policy 2009-14.

Sector Prospects

The Vision Statement for the textiles industry for the 11th Five Year Plan (2007-12), inter-alia, envisages India securing a 7% share in the global textiles trade by 2012.

The Indian textiles industry has enormous opportunities for domestic as well as international investors given its consistent growth performance, abundant cheap skilled manpower and growing domestic demand.

With time, India has surged ahead of other countries and positioned itself as a value-added manufacturer with a varied material base, an educated and English-speaking class of executives with high product development and design orientation.
